President Heber J. Grant

Born November 22, 1858, Heber J. Grant was ordained an apostle October 16, 1882 and sustained as President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints November 23, 1918, at the age of 63. He has had 62 years of service as one of the general authorities of the Church. He is a life-long patron of art, letters, music, and education. He has indefatigable industry, patience and perseverance. He has integrity, courage, and foresight. He is bounteously generous. He is loved by his people and respected and honored by leaders of the nation who harken to his counsel on matters of government, economics, and finance. He is of the truly great of the earth.

Student Administration

Carrying on the spirit and tradition of BYU, this charming and efficient trio capably directed the student body through a year of fun and achievement.

Above: President Lora Hilton.

Center: Secretary Elaine Grow.

Below: Social Chairman Lillie Stewart.

A. W. S.

Due to the small percentage of male students on the campus, the Associated Women Students have played a prominent part at the Y this year. They sponsored a Jamboree, the Preference Ball, the Sweetheart Dance, and many other activities.

Public Service Bureau

Efficient, talented, and unsung, Elaine Peterson and Rhoda Vaun Call have carried on the job of the Public Service Bureau and provided excellent programs at a moment's notice.

Seniors

Leaving a tidy sum to be applied on the new Student Union, this year's senior class brought to a close four wonderful years at the Y. Under the leadership of Marjorie Vowles, president; Elaine Taylor, vice-President; and Felice Kartchner, secretary, the class busied themselves with parties and graduation.

Y Welcomes Returning Service Men

The News

Vol.

October 29, 1943

No. 1

Dance Tonight to Honor Former BYU Students

Returning to the campus of BYU for the first time since their call to service last spring, sixty former Y students now in naval and marine training at western colleges were being honored this week at student social functions.

The trek back to BYU, where all were students last year, began the latter part of last week when trainees at Colorado College, University of Colorado, and the University of New Mexico were released almost simultaneously. In addition, some men have been granted leaves from naval training at UCLA, and arrived during the first part of the week. The largest group comes from the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque.

Almost without exception the men report that they enjoy training for Uncle Sam but admit a touch of nostalgia for the Y.

Servicemen were guests at the matinee dance held Wednesday afternoon and were also honored at the student body assembly Thursday. The assembly, planned by Felice Kartchner, featured the talent of army cadets stationed here, with Cadet Schwitzer as master of ceremonies. Representing the BYU servicemen, Dallas Young, now training at Colorado Spring and Jim Ludlow, stationed at Albuquerque, spoke briefly.

Climaxing the week's entertainment is the semi-formal dance to be held tonight at nine o'clock in the Joseph Smith ballroom. The returned servicemen will be guests of honor, but cadets and students are invited.

Internationally Famous Artist to Play in Provo on November 1

Joseph Szigeti, known internationally as "the top-flight violinist," will perform in the Provo Tabernacle, Monday, November 1, at 8:15 p.m., under the auspices of the Brigham Young university Symphony orchestra.

The Hungarian-born artist has been called the "Joachim of today" for his interpretations of the United States. He made his debut as soloist with the Philadelphia orchestra under Stokowski. Since that time the violinist has become a peennial coast-to-coast concert favorite in the United States.

Millions have heard him over the air--on Ford Sunday evening hour, the Philharmonic symphony

AW S Selects Vice President

Ada Moulton of Delta has been appointed vice president of the Associated Women Students, it was announced by Emma Hayes, president of AWS. She will replace Ada Taylor who will be married soon.

The get-together carnival on October 5 was only the beginning of various activities to be sponsored by the AWS council. One of the outstanding activities of the AWS ing home from military service to carry on class activities, so re-elections were held in class meetings two weeks ago.

The seniors this year have gone strictly feminine in choosing their officers. Marjorie Vowles from Ogden, is senior class president; vice president, Felice Karchner, Flagstaff, Arizona, and secretary, Elayne Taylor, Provo.

In keeping with tradition the University Hour To be Heard

The ladies glee club, under direction of Dr. Florence Jepperson Madsen, will be featured on the first broadcast of the University Hour, Monday, November 1, at 6:30 p.m. over the Intermountain Network, according to Mr. Ralph Ungerman, director of the series.

Further programs outlined for the University Hour, to be broadcast every Monday at 6:30 p.m. follow:

Banyan Staff

Ruth England, editor, came through intact and loved every hectic moment of it.

Below: Margaret Wilson, copy; Elaine Waddoups, associate editor; and Alice Kase, senior editor. Jean Bickmore, not pictured, gave invaluable suggestions and assistance.

In spite of wartime conditions, the Banyan staff plugged along, hashed and rehashed ideas, until the book you now examine developed. Behind all this has been the guiding thought of preserving for you "Memories of '44."

Campus Scenes

Preference Ball

Fall brings the Preference Ball, and the Preference Ball brings femininity's chance to reign supreme. Girls reverse custom, do the dating and the paying. Most preferred men were Cadet Francis (Germy) Germane, above, with Gloria Watts and Lillie Stewart, and Odell Christensen, right, with Joan Spratley. The committee for the affair were: Leah Holdaway, Peggy Hagen, Elizabeth Sander, and Elaine Nicholes.

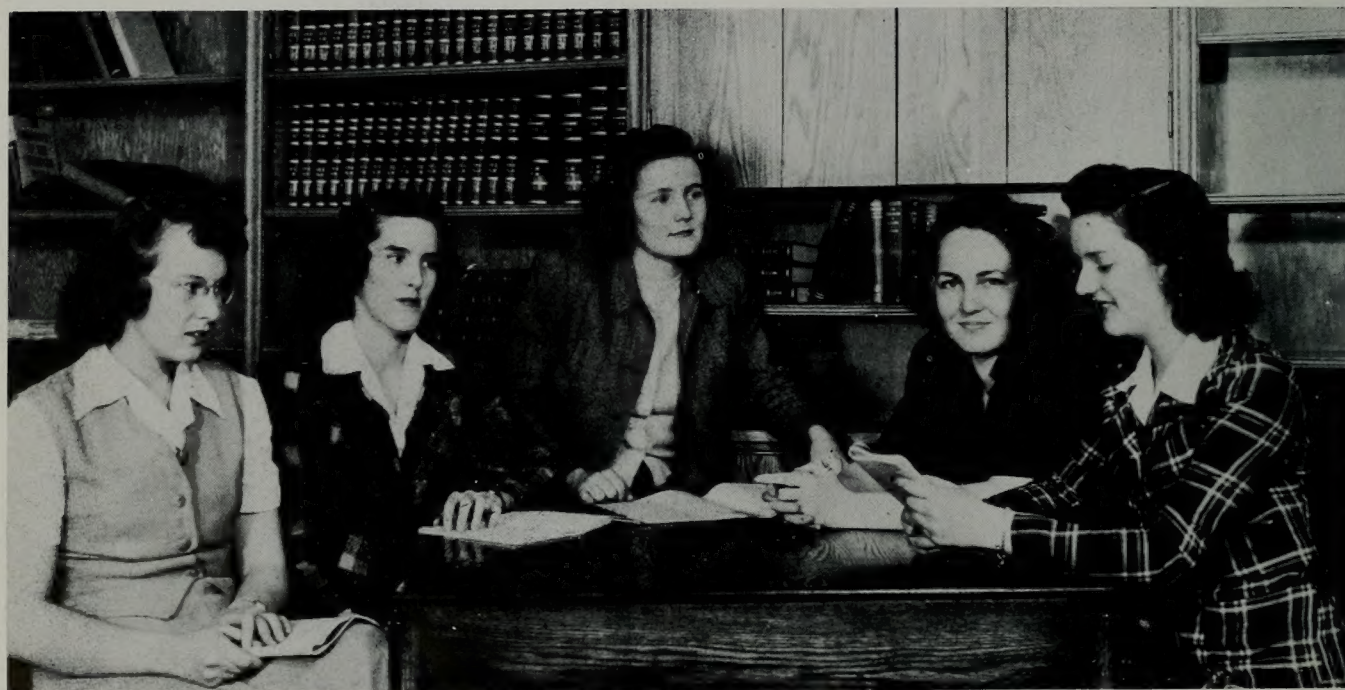

Debate Club

Student debaters earnestly discuss problems of national and international importance. Debate groups from the school were invited to several meets, but wartime travel conditions limited participation. BYU was ably represented at the Rocky Mountain Forensic League meet at the U. of U. by Jean Bickmore, Beth Crandall, Margaret Hales, Dorothy S. Fielding, Ruth Wilson, and Valena Jones.

Greenies

Alas, there, at the right, are some of those poor unfortunates who struggled in combat with the nightmare of initiation Center, The Freshmen trek is shown as the throng approached the steps of the Maeser building At the bottom of the page is a glimpse of the Freshmen party—long after the initiation was over but not forgotten

Assemblies

Thursday's assemblies have been colorful and entertaining. Before their sudden departure in March, the cadets contributed their talents to many an hour of music and fun. Above: Kermit Hendrickson, Wendell Jeftrey, Vernon Mergl, and Frank Germane do a bit of jiving. Center: Jane Thompson, whose genius was behind many of the outstanding programs of the year. Remember "Pipes of Pan?" Below: Wayne Booth, Herman Green, Gene Faux and Ralph Frogley harmonized in the Blue Key quartet.

Winter Rhapsody

With the theme "Winter Rhapsody," ambitious sophomores with Ruth England and Sally Turner as co-chairmen, swelled the Sophomore Loan Fund with the profits from the annual ball. Most successful "dutch" dance of the year, the ball is held to accumulate funds to assist needy students. Above are committee members and their partners: Mae Sevey, Clarence Clark, Marjorie Nielson, Ernest Wilkinson, Nola de Jong, Clyde Sullivan, Ruth England, Cadet Vern Mergl, Sally Turner, Cadet Robert Alexander.

Below: Co-chairman Ruth England and Sally Turner.

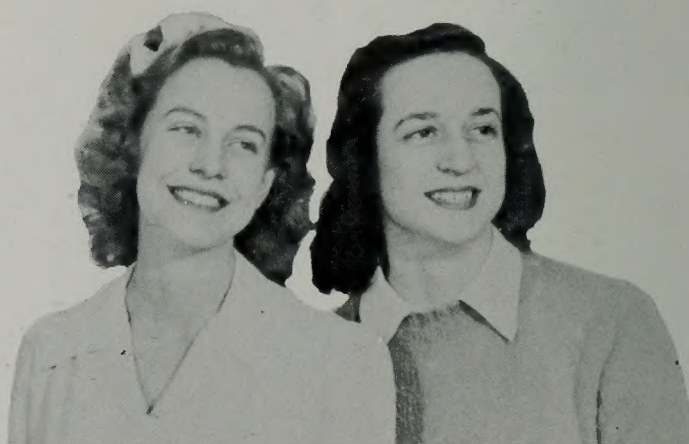

Sweethearts of Today

On February 12, Dan Cupid aimed his arrow straight into the heart of B.Y.U. and drew Nola de Jong as the lovely prize. With four campus beauties as her attendants, Nola was introduced as the "Sweetheart of Today" at the A.W.S. Sweetheart Ball.

Reading from the top: Elayne Taylor, Sweetheart of the Senior Class; Elaine Todd, Sweetheart of the A.S.T. Unit; Jeanne Pilling, Freshman Class Sweetheart; Nola de Jong, "Sweetheart of Today" and of the Sophomore Class; Dor-essa Paxman, Junior Class Sweetheart.

College Varieties

Pictured at left is Pan, star of "The Pipes of Pan," theme of the 1944 Junior Prom. Only formal affair of the year, the prom celebrated the homecoming of many Y service men whose varied uniforms made the ballroom even more appealing. Left, below: Committee Members Neil Welling; Mary Whiteley, Doressa Paxman, Ada Moulton, Barbara Taylor, Carol Roberts, Wells Brockbank, and Dorothy Snow gather around Chairman Elizabeth Sander, center, to discuss plans for the big event.

Below: Junior President Neil Welling and Chairman Elizabeth Sander look enthralled at thoughts of the big night.

Banyan Queen

Sweet and lovely are the words for Karma Jean Cullimore, Banyan Queen. Her cordial manner, her charm, her interest in others, her personality have captured the respect and admiration of all who know her.

Her equally lovely attendants are Jean Pilling, Barbara Taylor, Bonne Gay Lyman, and Mary Ellen Dauwalder.

Over the Hill

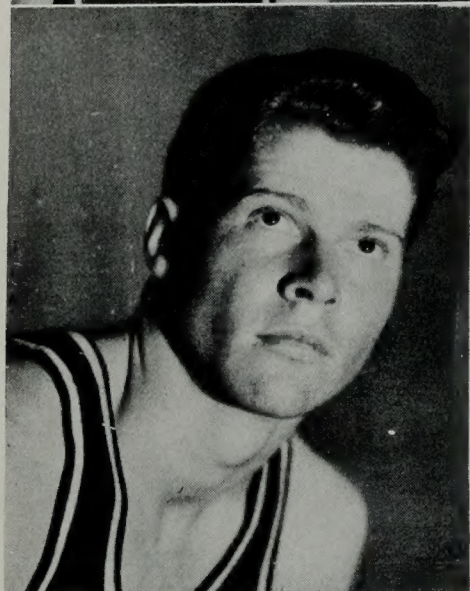

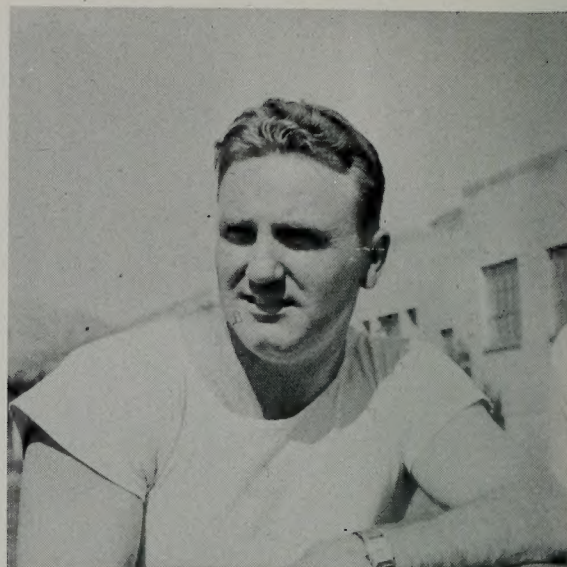

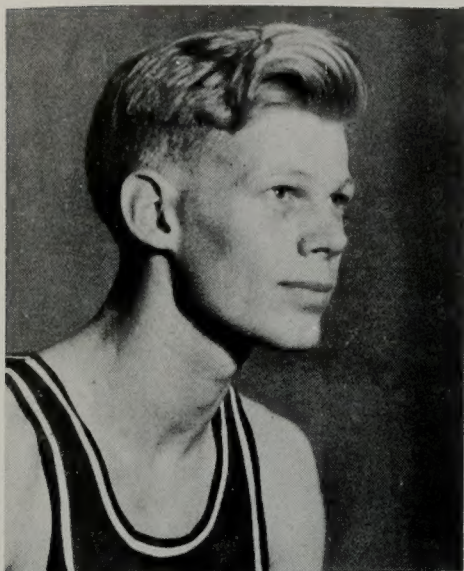

Over the Hill

Into BYU's book of memories have gone the many happy ones contributed by ASTU 3959. They came, they saw, and became a part of BYU. But joy and sorrow go together and on March 18 the cadets boarded the train to go back to regular army life. The heart of every departing cadet was filled with a longing to stay; those remaining behind found saying good-bye impossible. So let's not say good-bye, let's just say, Hasta Luego.

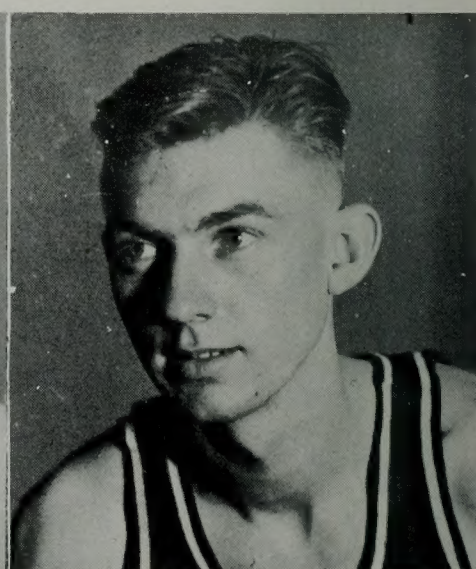

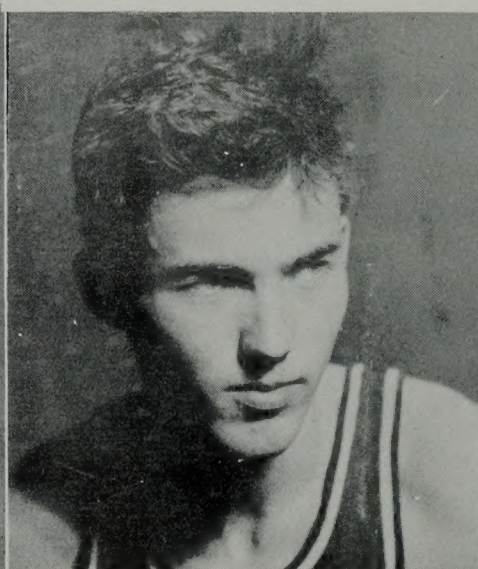

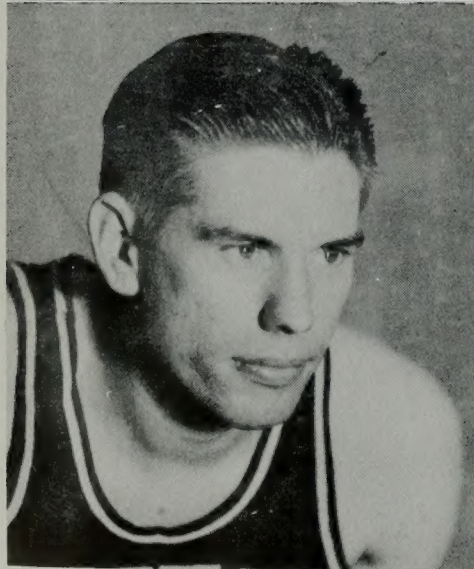

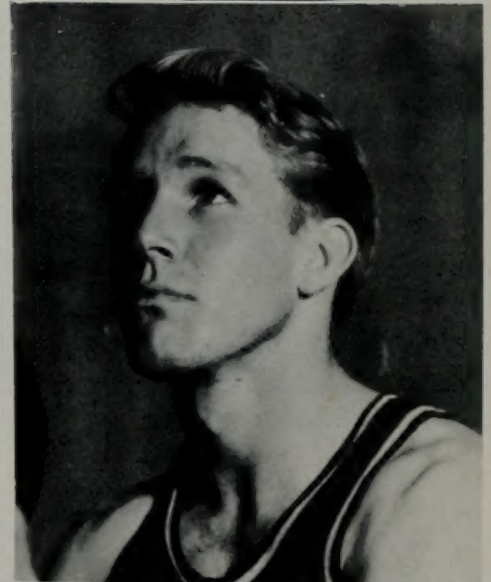

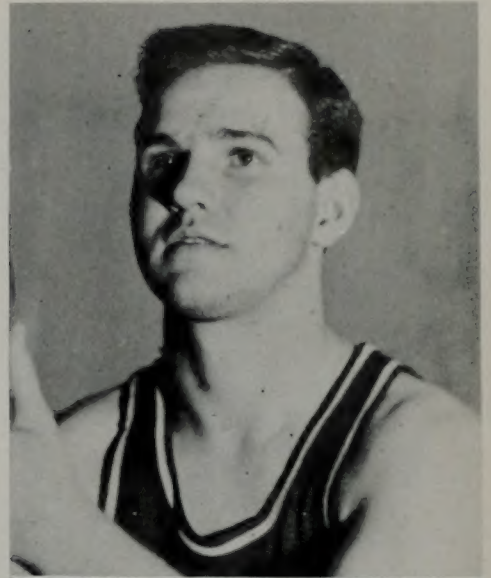

Cougar Cagers

Although a war year forced the suspension of the Rucky Mountain basketball race, the Cougars undertook the problem of assembling a team to play in Madison Square Garden and headed east in December to play a schedule of four games.

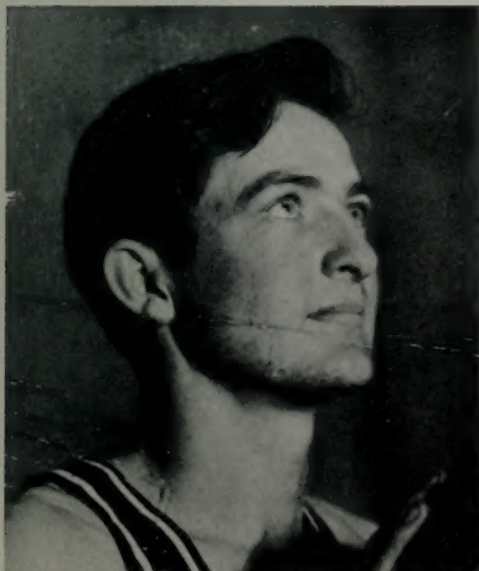

Canisius, considered one of the top eastern college teams, was their first opponent, and the green Y men rose to unprecedented heights to hand the Buffaloes a 45-36 defeat in the greatest percentage shooting exhibition ever staged in the Buffalo Memorial Auditorium. This game proved to be the highlight of the trip, as it was followed by a 56-41 defeat at the hands of Long Island before 18,000 fans at Madison Square

Garden, and a 53-49 setback by Albright of Reading, Pa. In both of the latter games, the Cougars were slow in starting and showed their inexperience by their spasmodic play. Both the eastern trip and the season were brought to a close with a 45-40 victory over Omaha University, giving the Y a .500 percentage, a creditable showing, considering all the hardships they had to face. Upon the return to Provo, four of the ten-man squad faced induction into the armed forces and the team was disbanded for the remainder of the year.

Reading counter-clockwise: Ernest Wilkinson, Vaughn Barker, Carl Schofield, Richard Hales, Neil Welling, Bryce Bailey, Cecil Kap, Paul Francis, Vern Waite and Bob Foutin.

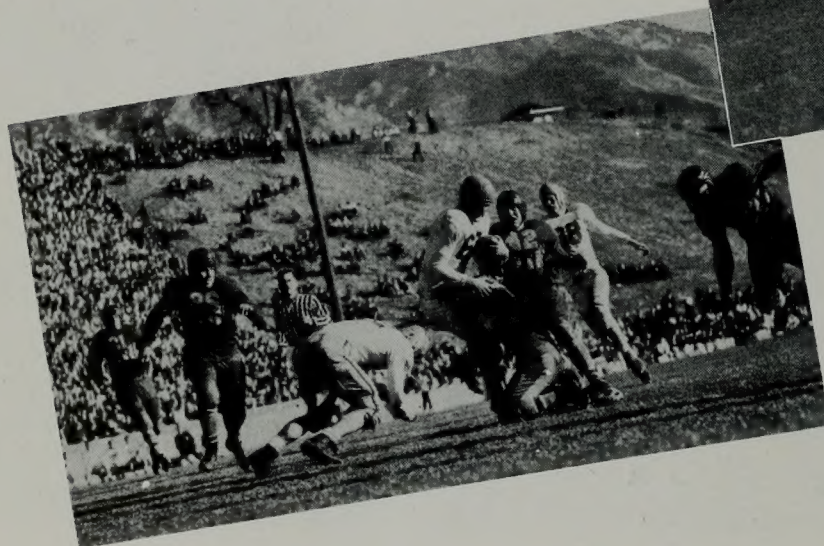

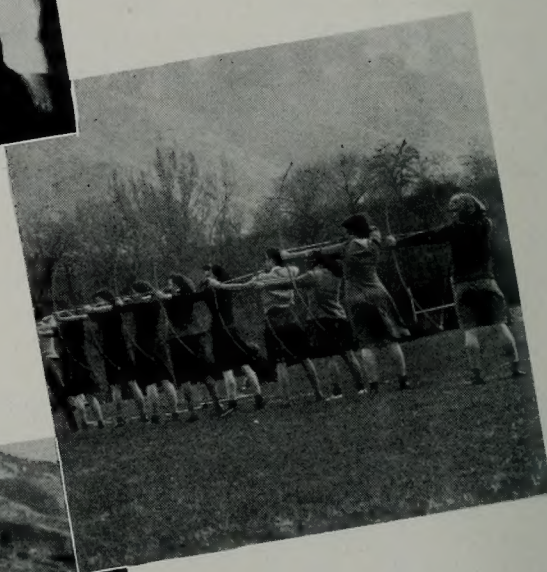

W.A.A. Council

Center: Y girls are getting into condition with the old sport of archery.

Womens' Sports

With regular athletics at a standstill for the duration, the girls managed to get excited and have fun with female sports. Right, the new intra-mural champions are, front, Grace Theobald, Captain Laurine Mickelson, Marjorie Lindstrom, and Edna Holt. Back row: Beth Wight, Miss Holbrook, Emma Ullock and Marion Whitney.
